A Camp Experience for S'more Children with Chronic Diseases

To address the concerns many parents have about leaving such children at camp, the Pleasant Ridge Camp & Retreat Center has built a new facility—the Dr. Cary E. Stroud Camper Care Center. This center, dubbed Cary Camper Care Center for short, provides medical care to campers with chronic illnesses throughout their stay. When they are not receiving treatments, these participants can enjoy the experience of camp just like their peers.

Cary Camper Care Center is made possible through philanthropic support from Clement's Kindness Fund for the Children and named in honor of Cary E. Stroud, MD, for his lifelong commitment to serving children and families facing challenging medical circumstances.

Dr. Stroud has delivered exceptional pediatric care for over 48 years. He was instrumental in founding GHS' Pediatric Hematology/Oncology Center—now the BI-LO® Charities Children's Cancer Center—in 1986 and served as medical director until 2013. Dr. Stroud then went on to start the Supportive Care Team at GHS Children's Hospital, offering pediatric palliative care services to address the psychosocial needs of young patients and their families.

The Cary Camper Care Center sports spacious, comfortable surroundings where children receive medical care in a kid-friendly setting.

Dr. Stroud, of Children's Hospital of Greenville Health System (GHS), is a staunch advocate for children with complex medical needs.

For many youngsters, the start of summer means attending their favorite camp—reconnecting with friends, engaging in group activities, toasting s'mores. Thanks to the support of generous donors, children who have missed out because of health conditions are able to enjoy the camp experience!
